

Draft Status Document

Definition: A document is considered 'draft' status if it is an Authored document and is not currently in a Review or Approval workflow. When a document is in draft status, the user is able to update metadata and/or update content by checking it out, making updates locally, and checking it back in.