

Program Level Document

Definition: A document associated with multiple clinical studies within a program. For example, the Investigator Brochure generally applies to all ongoing studies for a program, as do various safety documents. See Program and Enterprise Documents.